

COMM 402: Communication Ethics
Summer 2014
Dr. Leanne M. Bell McManus
Stevenson University

TEXTBOOK:

Arnett, R. C., Fritz, J. H., & Bell, L. M. (2009). Communication ethics literacy: Dialogue and difference. Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage.

COURSE PURPOSE AND LEARNING OUTCOMES:

The purpose of this course is to introduce you to the field of communication ethics. In contemporary terms, our task is to invite a “civilization of dialogue.” Civilized dialogue emerges from the dialectic of freedom and restraint. Communication ethics rests in the juncture of philosophy of communication and applied communication. It is through this juncture you will learn to understand the “why” and “how” of our everyday interactions with others.

- To describe the importance of ethical communication;
- To identify the difference between public and private communication;
- To recognize the influence of ethnicity and culture in effective communication;
- To synthesize the literature on communication ethics literacy
