

Call for Nominations/Applications:
Text and Performance Quarterly Editor-Elect
Assuming duties in 2024; overseeing 2025-2027 volumes

During 2023, NCA's Publications Council will nominate an Editor-Elect (or co-Editors-Elect) for Text and Performance Quarterly. The newly appointed Editor will begin processing manuscripts later early in 2024 and will oversee the volumes for 2025-2027. The journal is published four times each year.

Editors of NCA journals occupy a particularly prominent leadership position in the field. In naming editorial boards, selecting reviewers for manuscripts, and making final publication decisions (among other duties), they make a vitally important contribution to the discipline, and they play a key role in maintaining the highest standards of integrity and scholarly inquiry.

Text and Performance Quarterly (TPQ) is a peer-reviewed publication of the National Communication Association. TPQ publishes original scholarship that explores and advances the study of performance as a social, critical, communicative practice; as a theoretical lens; as a critical method; as a technology of representation and expression; and as a hermeneutic. Scholarship in TPQ addresses performance and the performative from a wide range of perspectives and methodologies, and it investigates sites of performance from the classical stage to popular culture to the practices of everyday life.

In addition to standard monographs, TPQ also publishes papers that examine and analyze performance in other scholarly modes, including experimental critical essays, photo essays, interviews, and performance texts/scripts.

TPQ also features a "Performance Space" section that documents performances and situates and critiques them in relation to performance studies theory and praxis.

Craig Gingrich-Philbrook, Southern Illinois University, is the current Editor.
